Foreword

As you turn the pages of this book you are witness to the play of plays—the portrayal of our lives.

It is our hope that a curtain will not be drawn over these pictures. Therefore, the producers of this book have tried to capture scenes, that in future years, when its characters re-open this annual, they will be reminded of many things.

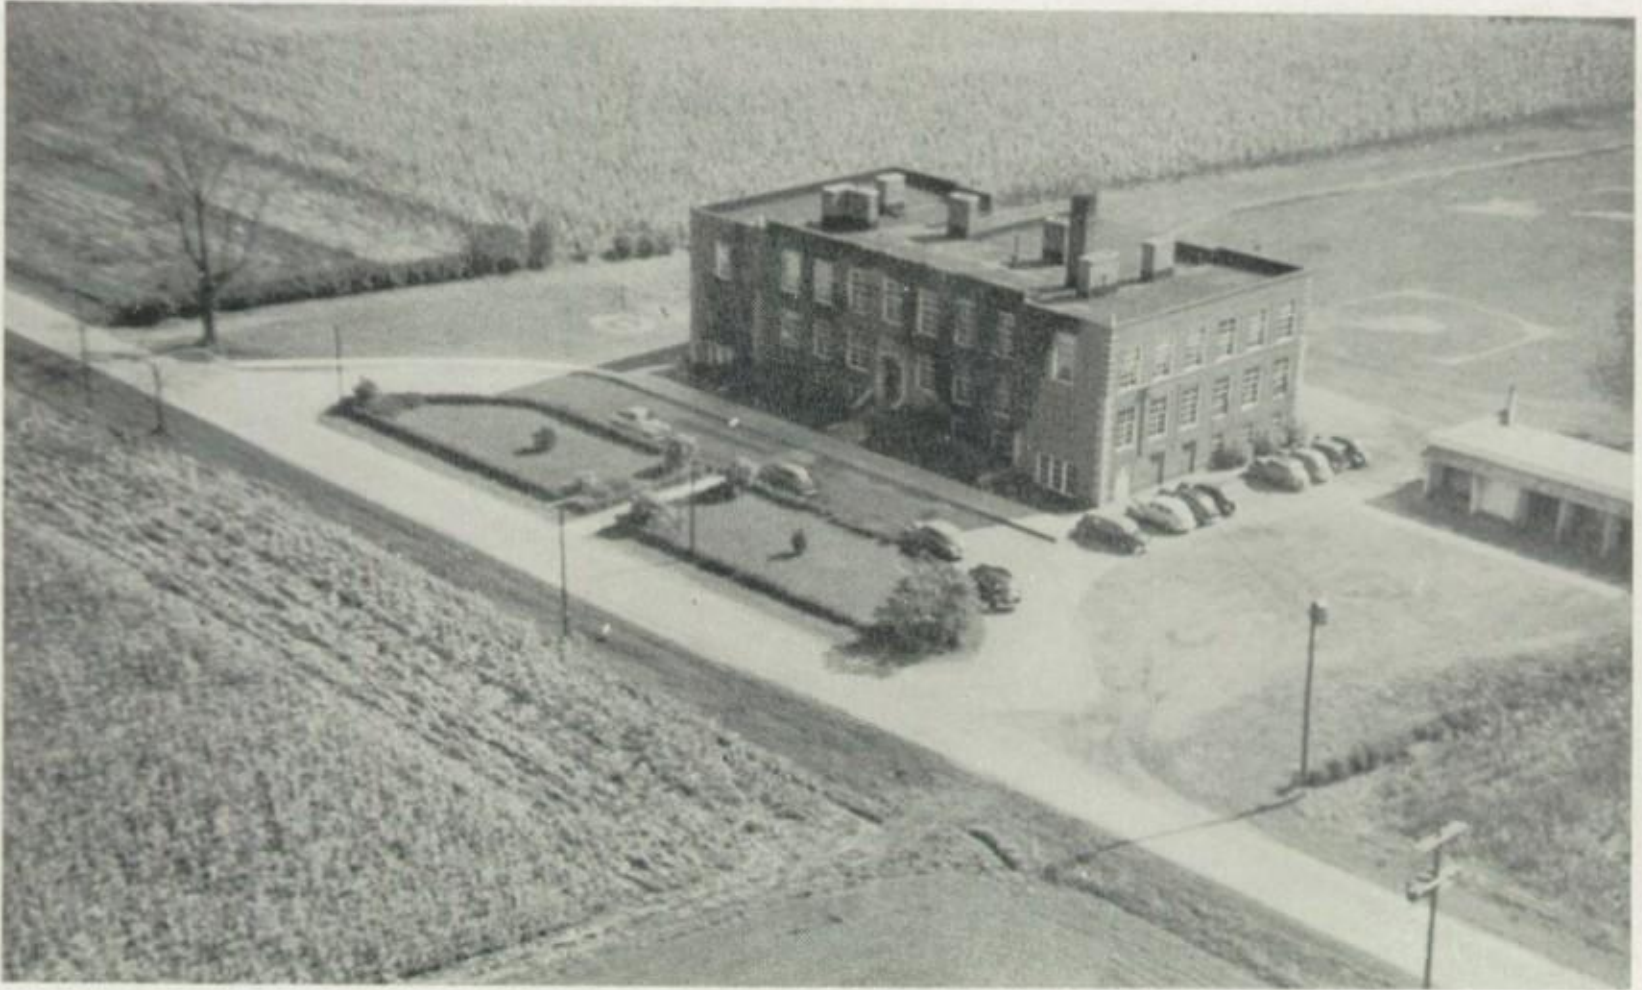

Perhaps a picture of someone may bring back old memories of situations when you were back in school. With each annual it is impossible to send along a record of all the sounds around school but we hope in looking over the pictures and print you will imagine the sounds, and be pleased with our efforts.

Dedication

We, the Senior Class of 1949, wish to dedicate this volume of the Blue and Gold to our parents, whose love, patience, understanding, and wisdom have guided us through our twelve years of school life.

Our School

If we work upon marble, it will perish; if on brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, and imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten to all eternity.

Introductory

Our Superintendent

Once again it becomes my privilege to make suitable comment and offer congratulations to the graduating class for your achievements in school.

It is my hope that the majority of you have learned to go about your daily living with what may be called the Scientific Attitude:

You have an inquiring turn of mind.

You hold your conclusions subject to revision in the light of new evidence.

You are tolerant towards new ideas and suggestions.

You are slow to accept as fact statements that are not supported by evidence.

You appreciate the value of applying these principles in living.

Good luck and success is my wish for every member of the Class of '49.

Our Principal

Soon will be ended four years of association together as a part of Jackson-Liberty High School. Many of the memories will be pleasant—others less so. Thus will you find life. Your preparation has been for successful living—secure in a vocation, contented in your home life—respected in your community—and right with your God. May you ever be successful is the sincere wish of your principal.

Members of the Board of Education have the responsibility of providing adequate school opportunity for the youth of the community which they serve. The degree of excellence or inferiority of the educational program in our community depends to a great extent upon our school board. It is their responsibility to select and employ the type of person qualified to produce a high type of educational program. Cooperating with other agencies, they develop plans to fill the needs and desires of their community.

We are fortunate to have the opportunity to select men we feel are capable of carrying out our wishes to maintain our school program at a high level. We are grateful to the men of our Board of Education who so willingly give of their time to serve efficiently as our representatives.

Loren Stumpp—President
Everybody's pal—and all Kate's . . . Probably the most popular guy of the bunch . . . Sure knew his way around with a basketball . . . Always handy with a joke or tall-tale about Gibsonburg . . . Seems to like Fords and being stubborn.

Wanda Omwake—V. President
The essence of independence . . . Quite involved with "red" —(favorite color, kept Y-Teens and Paul out of it, and often sees —you take it from there) . . . Where Omwake was, plenty was . . . When somethin's gotta be done—see Omwake!

Kathleen Coleman—Secretary
Typical Irish colleen — (but swears she's German) . . . Her ways of friendliness will take her far . . . Wielded the gavel in Student Council and Y-Teens . . . Apt cheerleader three years . . . Kept one-fifth of the Varsity well inspired.

Patsy Cunningham—Treasurer
Held the reins in FHA . . . Pat really made a name for herself in the field of Home Economics . . . Our latest addition to the cheerleading squad . . . Looked mighty cute as Queen of the Prom her Junior year . . . Saves lots of thoughts for the Navy.

Don Ecker
Versatile is the word . . . Our "bombastic" debater, orator, and actor . . . Would make a good politician . . . Could (and would) argue about anything—usually won, too . . . Talks a lot about the big brother . . . Looking toward OSU.

Catherine Kellar
Those eyes . . . That personality . . . Cassy always managed to keep busy —debating, acting, and editing the Blue and Gold . . . So proud of her Irish ancestors . . . Favorite author?—Ah, Louis Bromfield . . . Thinking seriously of making teaching her career.

Vondale Swaisgood

Brains of the class . . . Kept Varsity boys informed on basketball percentages . . . Always doing something—acting, debating, orating—loved to argue with Don . . . Definitely knew what she liked and didn't like. (Ask Catherine)

John Brickner

Our confirmed bachelor . . . Always quiet but not idle . . . An answer from John in Democracy usually got us back to earth . . . Had the strength of his convictions, but never forced his opinions on anybody . . . "Still waters run deep" . . . Likes Chicago.

Wayne Baker

"Loves 'em and leaves 'em . . . ah, that's Wayne . . . The smooth, good-looking fellow with too many girls . . . Nice voice . . . Had a car that held together . . . Pet diversions: coon hunting and late hours . . . Blames all weaknesses to life with five sisters.

Eulalia Reinhart

The girl with the big brown eyes . . . One more who spends lots of her time in the Home Ec. Department . . . Wherever Eulalia was a blond Junior fellow wasn't very far away—(hmmm, maybe there is something to that Home Ec. after all, huh, Eulalia?)

Beverly Jean Sour

"Sweet and lovely" (don't take her name literally) . . . Bev to some of us, but Shorty to most of us . . . diminutive musician . . . She's dreaming of becoming a concert pianist in some not too distant day . . . A smooth cheerleader.

Jim Snyder

"Sometimes glad, sometimes sad, sometimes mischievous,—but never bad" . . . Kept us entertained for twelve years—and wouldn't take a cent for it either . . . Got a car his Senior year . . . Why, he even helped rebuild the telephone line!

Clona Phillips

One of our two blue-eyed blonds . . . Very quiet . . . Came to us from Hopewell-Loudon back in her Junior High days . . . usually seen with Jean . . . Stayed busy keeping the latter out of trouble . . . Kept her thoughts a deep, dark secret.

Jim Stull

Tall, dark, and—ah, yes, girls . . . Artistic and elegant—(we're speaking of his art work and his clothes) . . . Just loved to tease . . . Really could get those balls off the backboard . . . Could look oh, sooo innocent . . . Had a smile to remember.

Charles Hatfield

Just Chuck to us . . . Another one of our Varsity boys—held down the guard position OK, too . . . Lots of music's stowed away in that boy—his work in the quartet proved that . . . Seen reading in class now and then—but 'tweren't Economic Geography!

Coletta Scherger

Our other blond . . . Always ready for a good giggle or a good time . . . Could she guard in basketball! . . . Chipped in and did more than her share selling concessions . . . Interested in typing and commercial studies—might even go to TBU.

Eunice Murphy

Shur'n she has a good, old Irish name now . . . Sometimes so quiet you'd never know she was there . . . Stuck close to the typing room, majoring in the commercial line . . . Murphy's a charter member of the bunch, being with us all twelve years.

James Ponn

Claims he knows a little about a lot of things—say basketball, parliamentary procedure, even his old car . . . Jim was always willing to help—especially to sell candy—(say . . . do you supp . . . no, we trust you Jim!)

Dave Hill

Doesn't like to commit himself . . . Noted for his evasive answers . . . Turned actor in his Junior year—did all right, too . . . Dark red hair—never noticed too much temper . . . Dave likes things cold—with perhaps a touch of Frost (hmmmmh?)

Jean Kern

One of our Senior girls' basketball champs—those backboard shots from close-in were her specialty . . . Migrated to Kansas from Bradner in time to be another "green Freshie" . . . Took good care of Clona for four years.

Lurelle Loomis

Luey to his friends and that takes in a lot of people . . . Had an elusive imagination what am an imagination! . . . Business Manager on the News-hound—but always had to double as "mimeograph slave" . . . Beware!—he's another future Einstein.

Nate Colwell

"Rain is dust, and dust is dry; life is short, and so am I" . . . Nate really got around—no thanks to the Chevie . . . Palled around with Martin, Snyder, and Ponn . . . Thinks the English language am the most amazing thing! (ask Mr. Bricker)

Martin Flagg

Kansanite from way back . . . Had an old car that got him places—say Meadowbrook, for instance . . . We hear square dancing there is his favorite pastime . . . Also developed pictures for a hobby . . . Ever hear about his squirrel hunting escapades?

Class Prophecy

Now lots of things have happened to me, but most of them I can explain. Last week, however, I found myself in a situation that . . . well, call it coincidence, fate or what you may. I'll tell you about it, maybe it will amuse you . . . or maybe you will remember, too.

I had just arrived in Columbus in my new "super jet" plane and was taking a taxi to the University's Atom Headquarters to file my latest research report on — CENSORED. I noticed the traffic on High Street was terribly congested and as we pulled up to avoid an atomic trolley I came aware that the crowds were headed in the direction of a flashing theater sign which read, "49th DESTINY." In spite of the confusion I leaned back on the soft cushions and tried to relax, but, try as I might I couldn't seem to erase that 49 from my mind . . . 49 . . . what special significance did it have . . . 1949 . . . just ten years ago, a spring night, a stage with blue-robed figures, a commencement exercise, twenty-three faces . . .

Suddenly I was very tired and sleep came easily, but it was a fitful sleep and I began to dream . . . dream about twenty-three blurred faces. It seemed the car was swerving, careening . . . the crash came and then a voice ask, "Did you hit something?" It was Jim Ponn leaning over me. He explained that he was a partner in an auto corporation offering "Service from the Showroom to the Crash" and since this appeared to be a crash he'd come along to see how his crew were getting along. Since I was uninjured Jim invited me over to see the plant. In the heart of the city I cited a large automotive firm and in letters twenty feet high saw the names SNYDER, COLWELL, and PONN. We went inside and there I discovered that the joint owners each had their own research department. I found Jim Snyder working industriously on a new jet car with a wedge front. Nate told me that they own the longest yacht in the world — three-quarters of a mile long. The boys asked if I'd care to take a little ride in a new model car they were sending out west on a trial run. I agreed to go and we were on our way.

We were going through the state of Kansas when I noticed signs pointing to a "Model Ranch." I decided this might be worth seeing so I knocked at the door of the main entrance and was greeted by none other than the former Kathleen Coleman. She had just started to show me around the house when Loren Stumpp stepped from his adjacent laboratory, so together we made a tour of the ranch. Loren showed me his giant switchboard from which he could operate every conceivable farm implement. I was preparing to leave when who should stick his head in the door but Dave Hill. It seems he just decided to drop in between trains for he was now an engineer and was on a scheduled run to Denver. Since I was this far west I decided to go all the way to the coast and of course I would go on Dave's train by way of Denver.

In Denver I found I couldn't make connections, but I saw some advertisements of the American-All-Star basketball team that was to play there that night for the world's championship. Checking further I caught the name of Jim Stull who played center on the team. At the game I discovered that it was really our own Jim Stull who was now 6' 11" tall. (Yes, the All-Stars won.)

Arriving in Hollywood I became aware that I had forgotten to eat any dinner and as a result set out in search of a restaurant. I hadn't gone far when my eyes lighted on a sign reading "KERMURPHIPS KAFE". For some strange reason this appealed to me, and going in I was met by the proprietors Jean Kern, Eunice Murphy, and Clona Phillips. They gave me a choice seat and after talking over old times for a while left me just as the guest entertainers for the week entered. They formed a quartet introducing themselves with the theme song "Here a Chuck, there a Chuck, everywhere a Chuck, Chuck . . ." and to my surprise the first tenor was none other than Chuck Hatfield who, as he told me when he came over to my table, organized and led this quartet called "The Four Chucks." Just then a laughing voice said "Hello." Looking up, I found another classmate, the former Eulalia Reinhart, who is now the wife of motion picture director Pete Dyer.

Well, now I'd traveled by train and car so I thought I would fly back to Ohio. Boarding the airliner I received a cheery wave from the pilot and a second glance revealed him to be Martin Flagg. I debated the safety of the trip but Martin assured me that he was the best pilot in the company. Putting my fears aside, I stretched out in my private compartment, turned on the radio, and prepared to take it easy. By accident I opened the paper to the literary and society page but a name in the headlines made me read further. Beverly Sour, the celebrated concert pianist, had just returned from her European tour and was announcing the schedule of her North American tour after completion of her engagement at Carnegie Hall. Some crooner kept breaking in on my thoughts and I started to shut him off when a dedication he was making caught my attention. ". . . to my old graduating class from Jackson-Liberty wherever they may be." It couldn't be, but it was, Wayne Baker. He had hit the top and was featured vocalist of the leading band of the day besides having several television shows of his own.

Pushing through the crowds in the Chicago airport I came in contact with a lanky figure battling in the opposite direction. I had scarcely uttered a sharp protest when a mild voice stopped me and there stood John Brickner. Shouting in the crowd to make ourselves heard, I learned that John had been the Ohio delegate to the national convention of Farmers United and much questioning compelled John to modestly reveal that he had been elected their President.

I spotted a taxi and dashing for it collided with another person with the same intent. As she turned around with a frown and then a laugh I recognized Vondale Swaisgood. We decided to share the cab and she told me she had just flown in from Cleveland where she had been lecturing and making final plans for her next book on social problems. Further explanation revealed she had come out to attend the broadcast and dinner in honor of Catherine Kellar who had been proclaimed "Teacher of the Year." I made up my mind that this was one broadcast I didn't want to miss, so joined Vondale. Trying to get a word in edge-wise after the broadcast I managed to find out about the remainder of the forty-niners. Vondale volunteered the information that Coletta Scherger was private secretary to some big executive in Washington, D.C. Catherine supplied the information that Pat Cunningham was the contented housewife of Doc. Then I inquired about Wanda. "Oh, didn't you know?" asked Vondale. "No," I weakly replied, "I didn't." Catherine took it up from there. "Why she's organizing a 'Women Only' political party and is considering running for Governor of Ohio—says she doesn't approve of that Democratic regime."

Just then my body gave a lurch, brakes screamed, and a cabbie was informing me of my bill. I'd been dreaming! Catherine and Vondale weren't there, nor any of the others. A figure came leaping out of the dusk and I distinguished Don Ecker running in a very undignified way for the Governor, for he was indeed Governor Ecker of the state of Ohio. "Don, Don," I yelled, "did you know Wanda was goin' to run against you?" Then I remembered it was all a dream. But Don answered, "So I just found out. She announced her candidacy in the evening paper."

So it was true! Then maybe all the rest was, too. Checking with Don I discovered that it was. Strange? We agreed that it was, but we also agreed that the forty-niners had done pretty well for themselves.

Class History

The cast of "The Forty-niners," ... most recent Amsden theatrical hit, gave their final performance on this stage last night. As drama critic from the nearby metropolis I witnessed their "swan song."

This evening's entertainment of one-act plays (for each of the five acts of "The Forty-niners" is a play within itself), though quite lengthy, held the audience in rapt attention.

Now for a short review of the play. The curtain rises on Act I entitled "Beginner's Dream." The scene—Jackson Public School; the time—Sept., 1937. Twenty-eight young players unfold the drama of the ceaseless search for a little in a world of so much. Here special recognition is owed to six people who did so much toward shaping and molding this cast. First, sincere gratitude is extended to the Producer, Miss Caskie, for her tireless efforts. Secondly, thanks to Miss Meyers for her fine understanding as Director. Roses to Miss Koons for her careful attention in costuming each actor. Gratitude is sent to Miss Cole for her skillful application of make-up. The problems of lighting were painstakingly handled by Miss DeEulis. The application of sound so ably arranged by Mrs. Now is lastly recognized. The instruction and aid of these superb advisors had been instrumental to the success of this production. The actors themselves gave an admirable account of their talents. From an occasional faltering at the opening they rose to a strengthened climax and conclusion . . . and the curtain fell.

Now it's nearly curtain time for the second act, "The Green Country." From our programs we see that the Producer is Mrs. Noderer and the Director, Don Ecker. Assistant to the Director are Loren Stumpp, V. President; John Brickner, Secretary; and Mead Smith, Treasurer.

This act started at a high point with the initiation of the "greenies" by the veteran actors. Basketball and dramatics tied for the second big moments of the production.

The Prince of Peace contest saw Wanda Omwake, Beverly Sour, Vondale Swaisgood, Kathleen Coleman, Catherine Kellar, and Don Ecker trying their talent, with Wanda winning a local first.

Kathleen Coleman, Wanda Omwake, Beverly Sour, Catherine Kellar, Vondale Swaisgood, and Don Ecker had parts in a minor one-act play. Don Ecker, Wanda Omwake, and Vondale Swaisgood were also assigned roles in the Student Council play.

Ellen Sigler, Beverly Sour, Kathleen Coleman, Jim Stull, and Mead Smith entered the music contest. Jim Stull earned a part in the operetta.

Loren Stumpp won a place on the winning Parliamentary Procedure Team.

Basketball saw seven of the "greenies" in uniform: Mead Smith, Charles Hatfield, Jim Stull, Nate Colwell, Dave Hill, Loren Stumpp, and Don Ecker. John Brickner was a manager. Jim Stull alone went out for baseball. Don Ecker and John Brickner both were on hand for track.

This act saw a goodly number interested in the Y-Teens, Hi-Y, FHA, and FFA as the curtain came down.

Checking our program before the curtain goes up for Act III—"Your Second is the Sophomore"—tells us the Producer is Mr. Cannavan and the Director, Mead Smith. Mead's assistants are Don Ecker, V. President; Beverly Sour, Secretary; and Wanda Omwake, Treasurer. Here sports take the center of the stage.

Kathleen Coleman and Wanda Omwake are elected cheerleaders.

Jim Stull earns his letter in basketball while Dave Hill, Loren Stumpp, Charles Hatfield, Nate Colwell, and Jim Ponn are out for it. Jim Stull still sticks to baseball. Track season sees Nate Colwell, John Brickner, Don Ecker, and Jim Stull represented.

A revival of the individual events contest takes the lime-light in the dramatics field with Vondale Swaisgood, Don Ecker, Wanda Omwake, Kathleen Coleman, Beverly Sour, and Catherine Kellar emoting. Vondale won a superior rating with a dramatic reading.

Don Ecker, Catherine Kellar, and Vondale Swaisgood gave Prince of Peace declamations.

Wanda Omwake and Vondale Swaisgood were understudies for the one-act play.

Catherine Kellar, Vondale Swaisgood, and Don Ecker helped the Debate Team place second in the county.

Don Ecker, Loren Stumpp, Elsby Saalman, Wayne Baker, and Jim Stull all found places on the winning Parliamentary Procedure Team.

Wayne Baker had a leading role in the operetta. Jim Stull, Kathleen Coleman, Charles Hatfield, Mead Smith, Pat Cunningham, and Beverly Sour had supporting roles.

Pat Cunningham, Beverly Sour, Kathleen Coleman, Louise Meyer, Wayne Baker, Mead Smith, Charles Hatfield, and Jim Stull entered the music contest.

Pat Cunningham was elected Secretary of the FHA.

The curtain once again falls on the players in the Amsden Theater.

A glance at our program reveals Mrs. Cannavan as the Producer of Act IV, entitled "Junior Who." Loren Stumpp is named as Director and his assistants are Don Ecker, V. President; Kathleen Coleman, Secretary; Wanda Omwake, Treasurer. The spotlight is on the one-act play, debate, and basketball.

Catherine Kellar, Beverly Sour, and Dave Hill had roles in the contest production which went to Columbus. Don Ecker, Wanda Omwake, Vondale Swaisgood, Wayne Baker, and Catherine Kellar had parts in the minor vehicles.

Catherine Kellar, Vondale Swaisgood, and Don Ecker made up three-fourths of the Debate Team which brought home the trophy for second in the State.

Prince of Peace participants were Catherine Kellar, Don Ecker, and Vondale Swaisgood.

The individual events contest found Vondale Swaisgood, Beverly Sour, and Don Ecker on the stage. Beverly and Vondale both received superior rating in the district.

Out for the music contest were Pat Cunningham, Kathleen Coleman, Beverly Sour, Louise Meyer, Wayne Baker, Mead Smith, Jim Snyder, Jim Stull, and Charles Hatfield.

Three cheerleaders were Juniors: Wanda Omwake, Kathleen Coleman, and Beverly Sour.

Three sported letters in basketball: Loren Stumpp, Jim Stull, and Paul Stahl. Mead Smith, Charles Hatfield, and Nate Colwell were also on the team. Jim Ponn was the Manager. Charles Hatfield and Jim Stull were seen on the baseball diamond. Stull, Colwell, Ecker, Pohn, Snyder, and Stumpp increased the track squad.

Ecker, Baker, Stull, Brickner, Stahl, Stumpp, Smith, Snyder, and Ponn formed the major portion of another winning Parliamentary Procedure Team.

The Y-Teens elected Wanda Omwake V. President and Kathleen Coleman Treasurer. Kathleen was also V. President of the FHA. Wanda was county parliamentarian.

Loren Stumpp and Don Ecker were Secretary and Treasurer respectively of the FFA.

Vondale Swaisgood and Catherine Kellar were Associate Editors of the Newshound.

The Juniors played host to the Seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet.

The play "January Thaw" brought down the house.

And so the curtains were drawn on "Junior Who" amid thunderous applause.

Now the theater lights are dimming, and it's almost curtain time for the fifth and final act. Act V—"The Ship Is Launched"—has as its Producer Mr. Kettler and as its Director Loren Stumpp. Named assistants to the Director are Wanda Omwake, V. President; Kathleen Coleman, Secretary; and Pat Cunningham, Treasurer. Once again sports, dramatics and debate came down-stage for a bow.

Don Ecker, Vondale Swaisgood, and Catherine Kellar entered the Prince of Peace contest with Don and Vondale winning local firsts.

In the one-act play cast were Vondale Swaisgood, Don Ecker, and Jim Stull.

Catherine Kellar, Don Ecker, and Vondale Swaisgood made a majority on the debate team.

A number were again out for individual events.

On the basketball court Loren Stumpp, Jim Stull, Charles Hatfield, Dave Hill, and Nate Colwell won letters. Jim Ponn was another man out. Jim Snyder acted as Manager. Track and baseball drew some attention.

Class History

Kathleen Coleman, Beverly Sour, Wanda Omwake, and Pat Cunningham made up the cheerleading squad.

Participants in the music contest were Kathleen Coleman, Beverly Sour, Pat Cunningham, and Jim Stull.

Operetta practice found Beverly Sour, Pat Cunningham, Kathleen Coleman, Wayne Baker, Jim Stull, and Charles Hatfield on stage.

The Student Council functioned with Kathleen Coleman as its President; Wanda Omwake, V. President; Pat Cunningham, Secretary; and Catherine Kellar, Treasurer.

The Honor Society found a goodly number present and elected Don Ecker, President; Vondale Swaisgood, V. President; and Coletta Scherger, Secretary. Vondale was also V. President of the County Honor Society.

Kathleen Coleman was at the helm of the Y-Teens with Wanda Omwake as Treasurer and Catherine Kellar as Secretary.

Pat Cunningham held the gavel in FHA while Kathleen Coleman served as V. President. Wanda Omwake was the parliamentarian.

The FFA chose Loren Stumpp, President; Jim Stull, V. President; Don Ecker, Treasurer; and Jim Snyder, Sgt. at Arms.

Lurelle Loomis was Hi-Y Secretary.

Vondale Swaisgood served as Editor of the Newshound with Lurelle Loomis as Business Manager and Jim Stull as Art Editor.

The Senior Class play was the usual success.

Catherine Kellar was editor of the Annual and Wanda Omwake was assistant editor.

And so the final curtain falls. The house-lights dim as the actors leave. Leave? Yes, they go now to join the greatest production of all . . . for now the world is their stage.

Our Will

We, the Seniors of '49, being of sound (?) mind and body, do hereby set forth our last will and testament.

FIRST: We extend to the teachers our deepest regrets that the class to come will not be as original or bright as the class of 1949.

SECOND: We, the Seniors, will to the Juniors our studious ability, providing they can get some one on the Honor Roll.

THIRD: To the Sophomores we leave the hope that they will grow up like the Seniors of 1949.

FOURTH: To the Freshmen we leave nothing, for they wouldn't know what to do with it if we did.

I, Clara Phillips, will my blond hair to Barbara Naugle.

I, Charles Hatfield, will my music ability to Bill Brown.

I, Jean Kern, will my basketball ability to Shirley McElhaney.

I, Vondale Swaisgood, will my success in dramatics to Patsy Russell.

I, Eulalia Reinhart, will my ability in Home Economics to Donna Byers.

I, Catherine Kellar, will my ability to talk like a streak of lightning to Jean Jones.

I, Luey Loomis, will my height to Franklin Long.

I, John Brickner, will my "bachelor tendencies" to Bud Wyans.

I, Coletta Scherger, will my typing ability to Bonnie Brubaker.

I, Eunice Murphy, will my ability to stay home evenings to Regina Saalman.

I, Kathleen Coleman, will my popularity to Patty Edinger, but will keep my love for Loren.

I, Loren Stumpp, will my ability as Senior Class president to anyone who can bring the class to order.

I, Dave Hill, leave Mr. Shaw's Democracy Class with regret.

I, Pat Cunningham, will my books to anyone who can read them when I'm through with them.

I, Wanda Omwake, will my winning personality to Zelma Kissling.

I, Wayne Baker, will my ability to sing to Berniel Saum.

I, Jim Ponn, will my car to Bill Brown. (So what if it hasn't got a motor.)

I, Beverly Sour, will my ability to speak my mind to Malcolm Hollenbaugh.

I, Catherine Kellar, will my ability to keep a cool head under difficult situations to Betty Bricker.

I, Don Ecker, will my patience with the teachers to Royal Smith.

I, Jim Snyder, leave my "intelligent remarks" to Duane Byers.

I, Jim Stull, will my ability to stay out of trouble in school to Richard Armon.

I, Dave Hill, leave my brain to future biology classes.

I, Martin Flagg, will my ability to get away with "murder" to Ray Thaxton.

I, Nate Colwell, will my automobile to anyone who has the time and money.

I, Kathleen Coleman, will my sparkling eyes to Kathleen Saum.

And so we entered our Junior year and the name is not what it implies for we will not take the hard knocks much longer. We are waiting patiently for the time to step into (inadequately) the shoes of the Seniors. However, this year we did our duty by contributing a president for the Hi-Y in the person of Wayne LeJeune . . . three boys for the Varsity, Ray Thaxton, Gerald Findley and Wayne LeJeune . . . Zelma Kissling and Betty Bricker for the Prince of Peace Contest . . . Zelma Kissling as Vice-president of the Y-Teens.

We entertained the Seniors at the Junior-Senior Banquet. We presented our Junior Class Play which was a financial and artistic success. Before the year is over we will perhaps have accomplished much more. And so until 1950 we remain, faithfully yours, The Junior Class of 1949.

SEATED ROW: Marilyn Coleman, Garold Owens, Robert Hammer, Jeanne Jones, Bud Wyans, Beverly Bauman, Patty Roth, Lloyd Cessna.

This year nineteen "Snappy Sophomores" entered the threshold of good old J-L to face another year of books and fun.

We were very capably represented in the various activities about school. We were able to hold our own in Athletics very nicely. Four of our boys represented us in basketball. We were proud to have Bud Wyans on the first five. We also had several boys out for baseball and track.

Besides athletics we made various contributions toward Y-Teens, Hi-Y, F.H.A., F.F.A., Student Council, Debate and the many music activities.

As a whole the Sophomores enjoyed a very eventful year. We wish to thank Miss Posey for enduring us this year. We hope it was not too much of a strain.

This ends our year as Sophomores, but next year we'll be back raring to go.

Upon the arrival of September 7, the class of '52 happily found themselves beginning their first year of high school life.

What happened to initiation? Well, it's like this, the high school said they didn't have enough time, but if you ask us, they were scared of us, being the largest class in high school:

So we soon found ourselves busily doing the activities of high school. You could find us playing basketball, using our vocal cords in music, pounding the piano in the piano contest, and speaking our pieces in Prince of Peace and Dramatic Readings.

We also enjoyed taking part in Y-Teen, Hi-Y and F.H.A.

Mr. Bricker, our able homeroom advisor, did a splendid job of holding us down in hot discussions and we thank him for his patience.

Next year this time we will have climbed another rung on the high school ladder and will be able to report more.

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! . . . Wanda did you find that picture we lost? . . . Jim, that art work has to be in by Monday . . . Bev are your write ups in? . . . Watch out! . . . Don't spill the glue!

Yes, that's about the type of conversations you could hear echoing through the halls the last few days before the "deadline."

A lot of time and thought went into this book—trying to give to you, the reader, an accurate account of the way we spent our time within the hallowed halls of J.L.H.S.

And so as the final "i" is dotted and the book goes to press we, the staff, hope that you, the reader, will be satisfied with our efforts.

The Student Council was quite an active organization this year. We began by passing the budgets of the various classes and Organizations.

Regular meetings were held each Thursday of every week. We eliminated the Freshman initiation again this year, also, the Student Council Play.

The Council supervised the election of the cheerleaders which was carried on the same as last year.

The service flag in honor of our alumni servicemen was taken down and put away.

The Athletic Banquet was on March 31 at which time the athletic awards were given out. The Banquet was paid for by the magazine sales in which Royal Smith was top salesman.

The Brown Derby was again sponsored by the Council. The Derby is a basketball tournament between the upper six grades.

All in all we had quite an interesting year. Several times the meetings got pretty hot but Kathleen Coleman did a wonderful job in wielding the gavel and bringing order.

A good word must be put in for the rest of the officers, too. Wanda Omwake was a very able Vice-President when Kathleen was not there. Pat Cunningham kept an accurate account of all minutes and settled many an argument in the meetings with her accurate recording. Catherine Kellar did a good job of taking care of our finances. As you noticed all the officers were Senior girls which may or may not mean anything.

Operetta

Jim Stull, Zola Kline, Beverly Sour,
Wayne LeJeune.

Kathleen Coleman, Charles Hatfield,
Pat Cunningham.

With the opening of the curtains we found a musical comedy, "Wild Rose." The operetta consisted of two hilarious acts. The setting took place on a country estate early in the spring.

Many years ago, a tribe of gypsies encamped on that estate and seized by a fiendish idea, the gypsy queen changed the clothes of the two small infants, one daughter hers and the other belonging to the wealthy Valentines. Queen Malena wanted her daughter to have what a wealthy family could give and she could not.

As the years passed and both girls grew up, the real Rose Valentine, reared as Rose Malena, fell in love with Norman Stafford, a friend of the Valentines. At the same time, Rose Malena, reared by the Valentines, fell in love with Gypsy Joe.

This caused many conflicts which added to the humor of the operetta.

Finally, the queen was forced to admit the awful thing she had done many years ago. The real Rose Valentine was restored to her rightful estate and the real Rose Malena henceforth lived the life she desired by right of birth.

FIRST ROW: Vincent Brickner, Daniel Flagg, Dick Findley, Royal Smith.

Early in February the eliminations in the vocal contest took place. Those who represented our school in the county contest were: Kathleen Coleman, Pat Edinger, Richard Russell, Ray Thaxton, Wayne LeJeune, and Bud Wyans.

Those in the district were: Pat Edinger, Barbara Naugle, Zelma Kissling, Jeanne Jones, Betty Hatfield, Kathleen Coleman, Daniel Flagg, Richard Russell, Vincent Brickner, Royal Smith, Ray Thaxton, Wayne LeJeune, Bud Wyans, and Jim Stull.

Also the piano contest took place in the latter part of February. Those participating were: Pat Cannavan, Malcolm Hollenbaugh, Jeanne Jones, Zola Kline, Pat Edinger, and Barbara Naugle.

The two who represented us in the county and district contest were Pat Cannavan and Malcolm Hollenbaugh.

Another activity that has taken place in which our school was represented, was the County Chorus. Those participating were: Beverly Sour, Kathleen Coleman, Patsy Cunningham, Charles Hatfield, Jim Stull, Wayne Le Jeune, Zola Kline, Betty Brickner, Pat Cannavan, Betty Hatfield, Pat Edinger, Jeanne Jones, Roger McDonald, Richard Findley, Daniel Flagg, Royal Smith, Malcolm Hollenbaugh and Buy Wyans.

The County Chorus, consisting of approximately 150 voices, presented an annual festival April 27.

Prince of Peace

Thirteen contestants were on hand to vie for local awards with Prince of Peace declamations. Three contests were held at nearby churches. At the Rehobeth church Pat Cannavan was declared winner with Catherine Kellar placing second. In the Kansas contest Vondale Swaisgood was victorious and Arlene Peeler received second. The Amsden contest found Don Ecker on top.

Pat and Vondale represented us in the county contest held at Old Fort. Don competed at Republic and successfully walked away with second place.

STANDING: Marlyn Rouser, Barbara Naugle, Betty Bricker, Betty Hatfield, Richard Russell, Tom Bricker, Zelma Kissling, Mrs. Cannavan.
SEATED: Patty Edinger, Catherine Kellar, Pat Cannavan, Don Ecker, Vondale Swaisgood, Arlene Peeler.

Individual Events

Two years ago saw the revival of the annual individual events contest. Since that first revived interest each year has seen greater participation. The greatest interest was shown in the poetry reading contest. In the Junior High division the winners were Joyce Bigham, Carolyn Fish, and Dallas Loomis. Those of the Senior High Division were Don Ecker, Vondale Swaisgood, and Pat Cannavan. Don, Vondale, and Joyce received superior ratings.

In the oratory contest Don Ecker and Betty Gamby rated superior.

The dramatic reading contest saw Vondale Swaisgood and Zelma Kissling both receive superiors.

THIRD ROW: Marlyn Rouser, Betty Gamby, Betty Bricker, Don Ecker, Catherine Kellar, Loren Stumpp, Pat Cannavan, Zelma Kissling, Vondale Swaisgood, Mrs. Cannavan.
SECOND ROW: Louise Bauman, Janice Weissinger, Joyce Bigham, Vesta Kellar, Marilyn Holman, Carolyn Baker, Carolyn Fish, Patty Edinger.
FIRST ROW: Dave Loomis, Dallas Loomis, Roger McDonald.

The humorous reading contest found Pat Edinger and Carolyn Fish winning superior ratings.

One Act Play

Pat Edinger, Vondale Swaisgood, Don Ecker, Jim Stull.

Once again the players in the annual one-act play turned to straight drama for their production. This play entitled "The Grass Grows Red," was written by Ethan Armstrong Wright. The cast, under the direction of Mrs. Cannavan, started rehearsals early and consistently worked on timing, variation in lines, and emphasis of effect.

As our annual goes to press, we are preparing for our first contest in which we will meet Thompson and Hopewell-Loudon.

"The Grass Grows Red" is a dramatization of a bit of Welsh Folklore. The scene is a peasant's cottage on the estate of a landed gentleman. According to their custom, the wealthy owners of the estate assumed unquestioned rights to impose upon the peasants who farmed their fields. This imposition gained momentous proportions in the plot of the play.

As the story goes, the peasant's lovely daughter enjoyed roaming the hills and valleys; and when she was found dying of a knife wound, her brother swore unceasing efforts to locate the perpetrator of the crime and ultimate revenge.

Years elapsed and no trace of the culprit; when suddenly, during a raging storm, the land owner sought refuge in the peasant's cottage. There, in his attempts to force his attention upon the son's pretty young wife, he unwittingly betrays himself as the long sought scoundrel. Here he meets his death at the hands of her brother and the mother is reconciled—thus ends the play.

Don Ecker characterized David, the brother of the victimized girl; Vondale Swaisgood, the bitter mother; Pat Edinger, the young wife; and Jim Stull, the flirtatious landlord, Sir Rowland.

"I know I'll have to be prompted" . . . "I can't keep a straight face" . . . "Is my make-up O.K.?" . . . In spite of forebodings, the Juniors gave an appraisable performance to an appreciative audience. Niobe and Andy brought gales of laughter while the black bag provided just enough mystery to keep the audience wondering, "What next?"

Debate

The 1949 Debate Team is composed of the same debaters who last year placed second in the state.

The question for this year is Resolved: That the U.N. now be revised into a Federal World Government. Pat Roth and Vondale Swaisgood are once again upholding the Affirmative, while Catherine Kellar and Don Ecker are again trusting their luck with the Negative point of view.

The team scheduled several non-decision debates with Bowling Green State University, Fremont Ross, and Tiffin Columbian, besides attending the Sylvania and Lima Tourneys. Entering the A division in both tourneys they placed first at Sylvania and fourth at Lima.

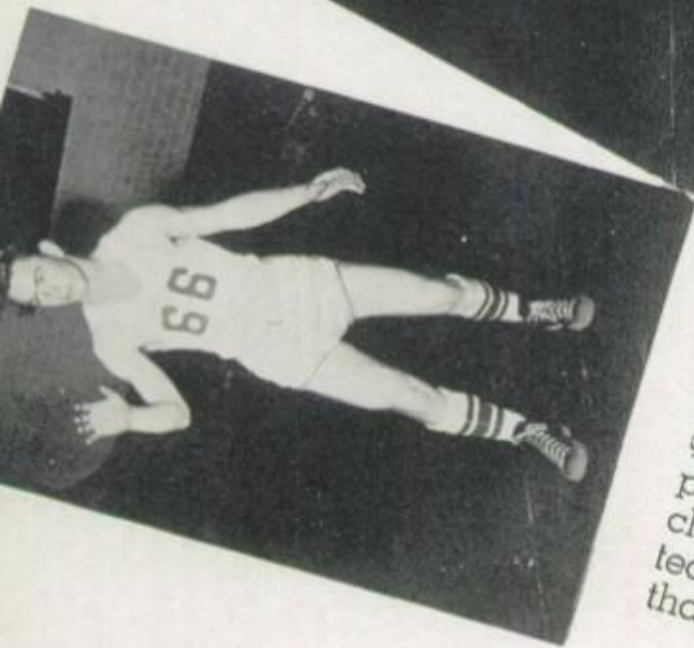

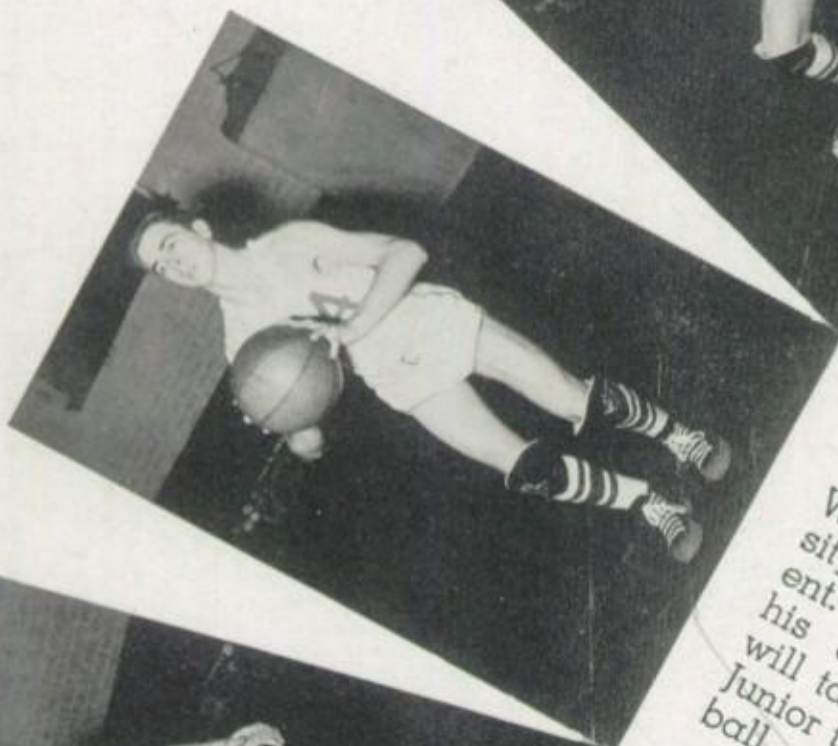

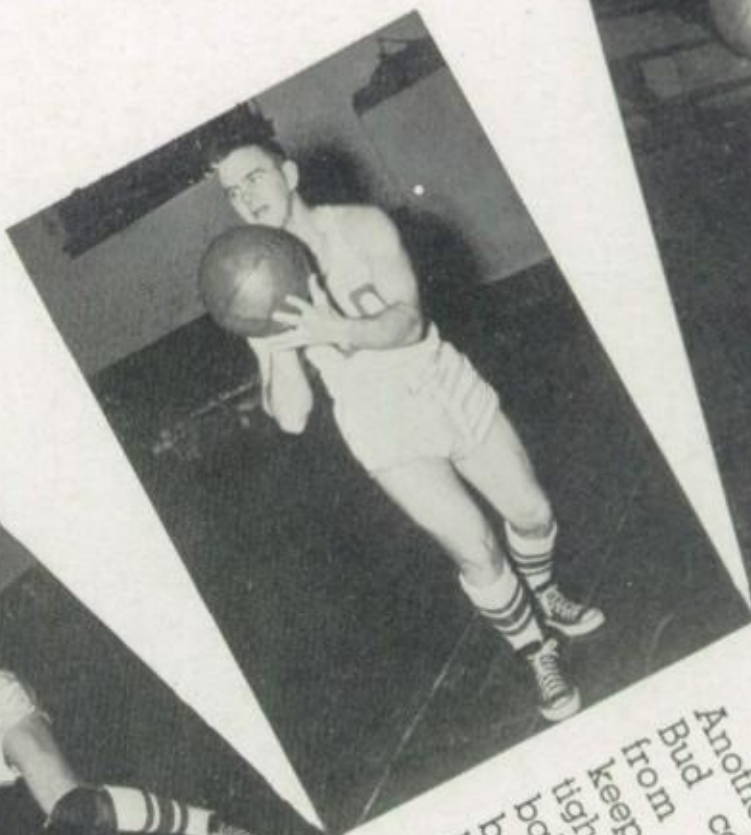

Again this year the debaters, after a series of practice debates and tournaments, tied for first place in the county along with Bettsville.

Both teams are now qualified for state.

Amsden Pulls One Out Of The Fire

Jackson-Liberty had a hard time of it but doggedly managed to tie the score soon after the opening of the fourth quarter and won 42 to 35 over Republic after trailing all the way.

Stump led for J-L team honors with 13 points and C. Hatfield and Stull with 10 points each contributed to the win.

Conger was high pointer for Republic with seven fielders and four reserves for a total of 18. Masden trailed 17 to 21 at the time period and pulled on the 3 a point at the end of

Even though the wins were low, the final scores were impressive. The team played well and showed good sportsmanship every minute of the game. With their teamwork and good ball playing these boys will play on the road to success in the years following.

Our capable managers for this year are Jim Snyder and Don Cessna.

Mr. Bricker is one swell coach. He always has a smile and he had confidence in his boys—win or lose. He knows his basketball and he's well thought of by all his boys. His splendid training and guidance helped to keep up the morale of the team when the going was the toughest.

The man behind the scenes. He played an important part in J.L.'s athletic activities. Yes, I'm speaking of no other than Mr. Shaw. He was the man that supplied us with everything from a scoreboard to shoe laces. Here's to you, Mr. Shaw, your unfailing faith inspired each of us toward our best.

The Junior High basketball team was coached by Jim Stull and Ray Thaxton. Ray and Jim did a fine job coaching, and enjoyed working with the team. Although the year wasn't too successful, the team has the spirit that will contribute to success in the years to come.

Baseball

One . . . two . . . and it's a home run. That's our baseball team! As I looked across the baseball diamond, I see Charles Hatfield standing in the pitcher's box ready to let the ball fly. Dick Findley is in a squatted position ready to receive the catch when Casey misses his cue. The bases are loaded and the out-field is well covered. With that the season closes.

Cheerleaders

Beverly Sour, Kathleen Coleman, Pat Cunningham, Wanda Omwake.

Pretty, Vivacious, and Peppy! Yes, that describes this year's cheerleaders.

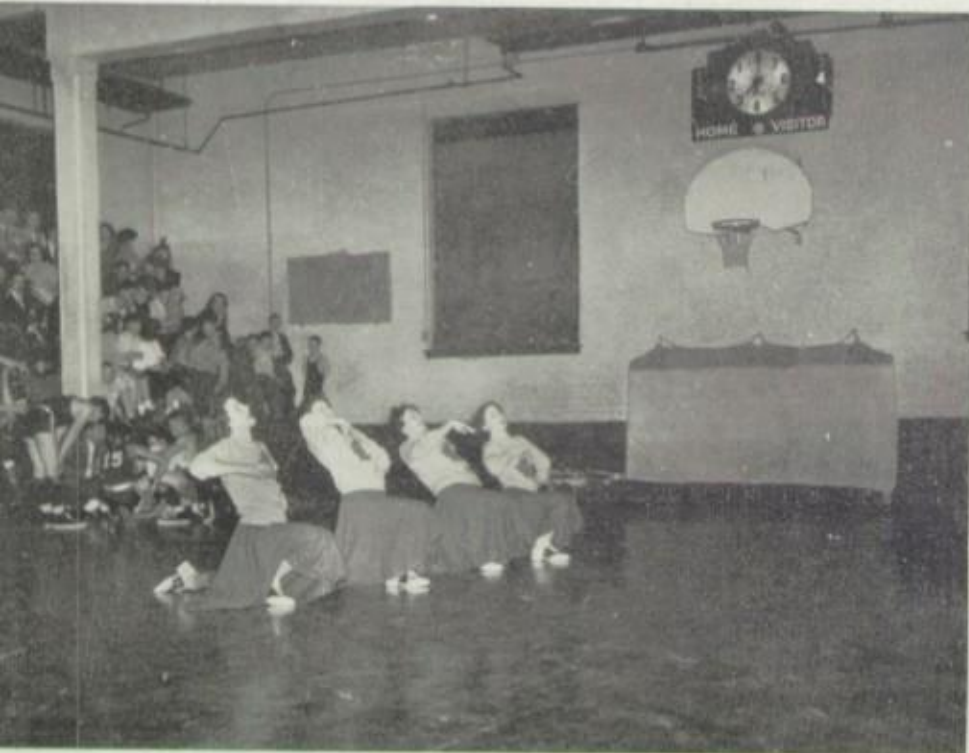

They have been termed by many an onlooker, "The best cheerleaders we've had in a long time."

Any of you who have ever seen the girls in action know I am right when I say, throughout the whole year the girls put everything they had into their yells, win or lose.

Many of their ideas were quite original and unique and they had a variety of yells which never became monotonous.

Three of the girls are the same girls who were on the team which won the cheerleading championship trophy last year. Now this leads me up to this year and to report how the girls came out. They made a wonderful showing all year and were rewarded for their efforts by walking away from the county tournament with a trophy for runner-up. Good work, Girls!

We're Doing O.K.
